THE DESIGN

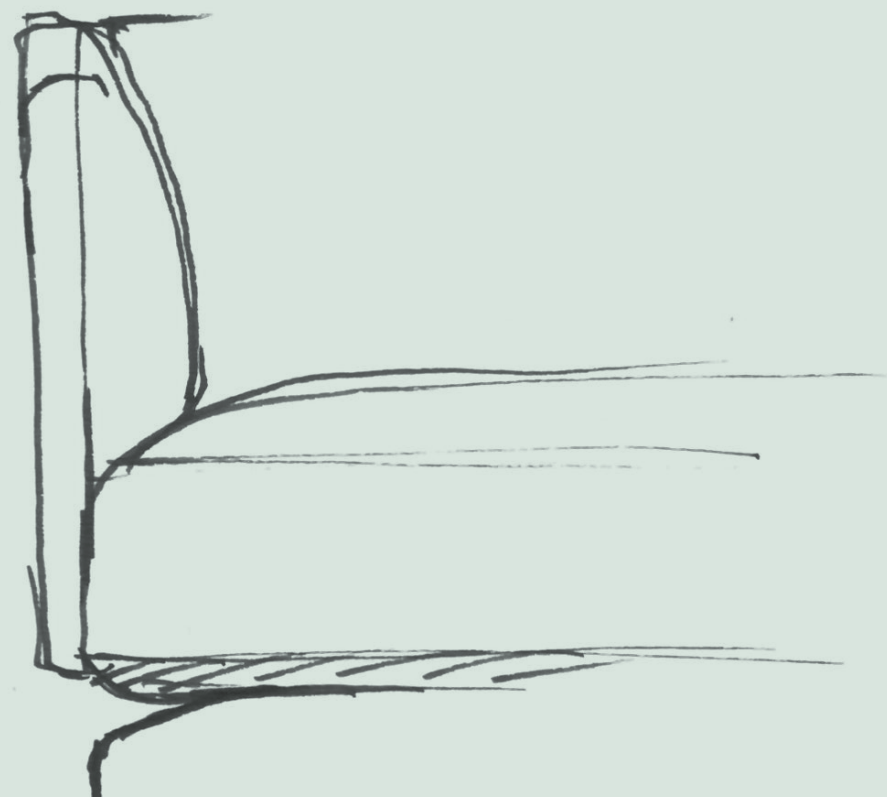

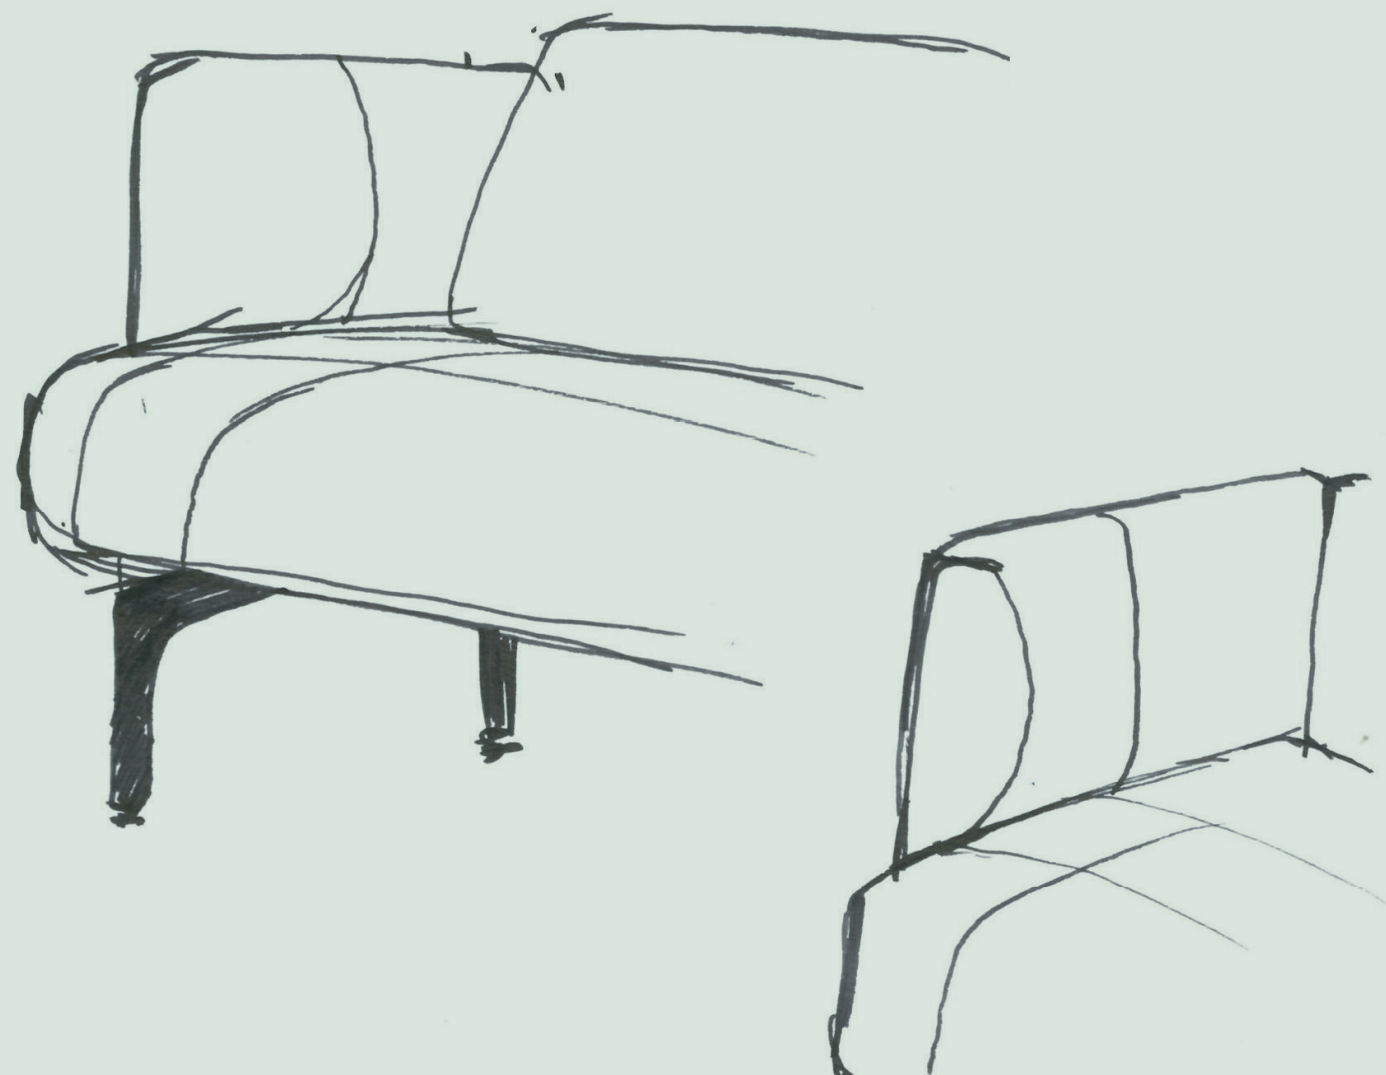

With Arris, Artifort Design Group has accomplished what it set out to do: a sustainable design solution developed with a fresh perspective on design. Arris is not just beautiful to look at, it transcends trends and time, is resilient enough to withstand the demands of real life and is supremely comfortable.

ART MEETS COMFORT

At Artifort, every sofa begins with inspiration. Guts, creativity and quality are key, as the design team approaches the object from a new perspective. Artifort Design Group relies on its rich tradition of craftsmanship and technology, which have been inextricably linked since our foundation.

Taking an experimental, multidisciplinary approach, our design teams develop concepts, sketches, prototypes and products based on the needs and wishes of our customers. Next, our highly skilled production teams bring the concepts to life.

Arris is designed with a strong balance between functionality and aesthetics. The rounded, convex shape of the armrest provides perfect seating comfort as you nestle snugly in the corner of the sofa. The seat has been carefully designed with a straight shape, and made from foam in several hardnesses. This creates a sense of unity and a great deal of comfort when Arris is linked together to create a generous corner arrangement.

SUBLIME DETAILS

The development team took various architectural cues during the design. Arris features many subtle upholstery details. The darts around the armrest, back cushions and seat impart a sense of shape and structure, while the rounded, convex inside give Arris its comfortable appearance. The loose back cushions are ingeniously connected at the back, so Arris retains its clean, sleek appearance even after you have stretched out luxuriously on the sofa.

Arris owes its breezy design to its slim aluminium legs. The design team chose to set the tall legs at an angle from the dart for a more dynamic look and a snug fit in corner setups. The cast aluminium legs can be coated in more than 45 colours, so customers can hand-pick an upholstery and colour combination that reflects their personal style.

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability was a key consideration during the design phase. Arris is made of high-quality, durable materials. An essential part of the design brief for Arris was creating a sofa that could be reupholstered. That is why the fabric is not glued to the seat foam, but pulled taut and attached under the sofa with a smart Velcro system.

PERSONALITY

The generous seat, loose back cushions and slim back panel maximise seating comfort without taking up too much floor space, making Arris a perfect fit for a wide range of homes. From spacious living rooms to compact apartments. Every Arris comes with a slim or wide armrest, two seat heights and – true to the Artifort name – countless upholstery options in both fabric and leather.
